

Insect Identification Service

The Ohio Department of Health's Zoonotic Disease Program provides an Insect Identification Service. This is a free service available to all Ohioans for the identification of insects and arthropods of public health concern. Examples of past submissions include flies, wasps, spiders, bedbugs and mites.

Samples may be submitted by U.S. Mail to the address below. Once received, our entomologists will identify any arthropods and a report will be sent to you by return mail. Please fill-out the following information to assist our staff in reporting results to you.
